The slopes of Terrats

Itinerary Terrats loop route through its vineyard and through 'Canterrane' river crossing. The hike begins in front of "Bouteillé" tower, an original concept, named after its architect, and continues in the "contemporary" part of Terrats to head towards 'Canterrane' along the vineyard bordering the red clay organs.

BY CAR : Park in the car park near Terrassous Winemakers

BY FOOT : From Terrassous Winemakers* car park.

Move along the Winemaker and its tower 'Bouteillé' and take the 1st street on your left

Follow the marking, turn right, exit the village, go straight ahead..

The landscape opens into terraced vineyards and first foothills of Canigou Mount. Everywhere the vine: it runs from the browns hills to the gravelly terraces to tumble down to the rolling pebble valleys... and give a vineyard of very high quality thanks to well adapted grape varieties..

At 'Canterrane' river crossing, take a break to chat with the gold seekers, they always have some stories to share.

Observe the landscape that leads to 'Roc de Mallorca' on your right. This 'Roc' watches over the steep slopes of the surrounding area cut and interspersed by the 'correcs' (a Catalan term for these small rivers that come to life during violent storms)..

Go straight ahead, ignore the path on your right.

Follow the markup, after the loop, take the path on your left. Some ruins of cottages, witnesses of our Pastoral History follow the hiking trail.

A new river crossing, the village of Terrats is crossed from west to east by 'Canterrane'* follow the markup..

Move along the gardens, until you reach the main street of the village and stroll around the church, its square, the ice wells and the ancient furnace, some vestiges of an old time. Go up to the car park by 'Avenue des Corbières'.

* The bed of 'Canterrane' is mostly dry but water circulates under the alluvial layer. Warning! 'Canterrane' undergoes a debit of infrequent but often violent and devastating floods; in this case, the rise of the waters and the fall are extremely fast.

 Terrassous are the inhabitants of Terrats, it is under this denomination that winery of Thuir, Fourques and Terrats have gathered.

It's worth the detour

AN OLD SHEEPFOLD, WITNESS TO THE PASTORAL PAST OF THE VILLAGE

In Catalonia, a sheepfold is called 'Cortal', whether the building is in a village or on a place of pasture, covered with a roof of tiles or thatch or a vault of stones under a earth covering.

A ROMANESQUE CHURCH AND THE ORIGINAL ARCHITECTURE OF ITS BELL TOWER.

This church is dedicated to Saint Julian and Saint Baselisse, both highly venerated in Roussillon, who would have refused to consummate their marriage to spread the Christian faith on their own. It is a Romanesque church from the 11th or 12th century
